Rotary Club bonfire lights up Twin Bridges with community spirit

Ben Coulter THE MADISONIAN ben@madisoniannews.com

Several members of the Twin Bridges community gathered at Jessen Park on Wednesday night for the Rotary Club Christmas tree burn and tailgate party, an annual event more than twenty years running that brings friends and neighbors together to start the New Year by setting their old Christmas trees ablaze.

As the sun went down, children of all ages laced up their ice skates and took to the frozen pond while Rotary Club members helped set up tables for a potluck dinner. With a splash of fuel on the burn pile and the touch of a propane torch, the bonfire lit up the park as the cold darkness of night set in.

Between the heat from the fire and the delicious assortment of steaming hot food, ranging from coffee and cocoa to multiple homemade chili recipes and hotdogs grilled on a pitchfork, the warmth of Twin Bridges community spirit could be felt radiating from Jessen Park as the icy Beaverhead River flowed quietly nearby.

Rotary Club member Frank Colwell said the bonfire tradition has always been a way of taking out the old and bringing in the new. He added that everyone who showed up received a warm welcome in more ways than one, no matter who they were or from what direction they came.

During a dark and often difficult time of year, the Christmas tree burn and tailgate party was just another opportunity to bring people together and reunite the close-knit Twin Bridges community. Besides, Rotary Club member Rand Bradley said of the once-decorated evergreens as they went up in flames, "it's better than taking them to the

Commissioners review plan for Twin Bridges Airport

THE MADISONIAN ben@madisoniannews.com

At a December meeting in Virginia City, the Madison County Commissioners met with Rick Donaldson of the civil engineering and surveying firm Robert Peccia and Associates in Helena to discuss final changes to the Planning Narrative for the Twin Bridges Airport.

The Airport Layout Plan (ALP), developed over the years for the Twin Bridges Airport, shows potential for future development such as runway widas apron expansion and widening for the taxiway area. Part of this plan includes pavement rehabilitation projects for the existing surface, so the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) supported a planning effort to determine whether or not any of the improvements proposed ening and lengthening as well in the ALP were justified at Donaldson explained that an FAA review of the planning report for the Twin Bridges Airport indicated that it would be difficult to justify a G2 classification for the facility at this time. While this means that the FAA does not support widen-

Harrison student charged with criminal endangerment after guns found in backpack

A 14-year-old Harrison student was arrested Friday afternoon and charged with criminal endangerment after he was found to be in possession of two handguns on school property.

According to a statement issued Sunday by the Harrison School District Superintendent Fred Hofman was approached by a female student shortly after 3:00 p.m. who claimed that she had heard another student was carrying a gun in his backpack. Hofman and school staff reacted to the information quickly and efforts were made to locate the student immediately.

Because classes had already been released for the rest of the day, students were in the process of preparing for Friday night's basketball games against Lima and Cardwell. Members of the community were already beginning to arrive in anticipation on the evening's matchup, and Hofman said in the press release that because of these circumstances the situation did not allow for any lockdown procedures to be

School staff soon learned that the student had left the property to walk a few blocks down the street to the store, and a staff member notified Hofman via text message when the student was

Commissioners postpone taking action on growth policy update hearing Tuesday afternoon on the Madison County Growth Policy Update, the Madison County Board of Commissioners took no action on the matter in the hope of reviewing comments from the public and making possible word changes to the document before meeting again no later than the end of February.

Commissioner Jim Hart said that the people who opposed the growth policy update were concerned about certain words that should at least be reviewed and possibly changed.

"Those who voiced their Following a lengthy public opposition to the Growth Policy were concerned about future regulatory action, even though they heard the comment that the growth policy has no authority, per se," said Hart. "Those who spoke in favor of it mostly commented on the fact that we have a growth policy right now that's been in place for 40 years, and the few changes that were recommended by the Board would

Commissioners approve mill levy election for Thompson-Hickman Library

At their regular Tuesday meeting in Virginia City the Madison County Commissioners carried a motion as recommended by the Madison County Library Board authorizing a one-time, six mill levy for the expansion of the Thompson-Hickman County Library.

The expansion is necessary for a number of reasons, including compliance with the American Disabilities Act and the need for hot water in the historic building that was originally built in 1918. Limited space in the library means that archival materials and historical documents are stored in various non-climate controlled facilities throughout the county, and prohibits the expansion of the general collection. The library is also in need of an upgrade to the electrical system in order to continue providing educational and program opportunities.

The projected cost for an addition to the library is $650,000, and the levy of 6 mills would raise approximately $464,136 toward that goal. The tax increase for a resident with a home valued at $100,000 would be $8.30 and for a $200,000 home the tax increase would be $16.60.

Currently, the Madison County Library Board has raised nearly $24,000 to date. That amount, combined with $33,000 pledged by the Madison County Commissioners and $37,878 held in the library depreciation reserve fund, would be matched by a grant from the Kendeda Foundation for a total of $182,748.56. A stipulation that must be met is that the Board must have funding for the expansion secured by December 31, 2013 in order to receive the Kendeda grant.

The Library Board had originally hoped to fund the project entirely from private donations, but realized that they would not be able to collect enough money to be eligible for the Kendeda grant though private donors alone.

"If we were going to see this project to reality, we felt that we couldn't wait any longer and this was our last alternative," said library board chair Janet Doorn-

County library director Joanne Erdall-Van De Riet said that while the expansion project has support from all around the county, the fundraising aspect turned out to be a much bigger project than anyone anticipated.

"It was my hope to do this totally without taxpayer money," she said, but in reality the project cannot move forward funded entirely by private donations.

Commissioner Dan Happel suggested that any additional funds generated by the mill levy once the expansion was completed should be dispersed equally among the other community libraries in Madison County.

Wishing to thank the appropriate people for donation

Dear Editor,

I find it necessary to correct some misconceptions in the article in the Jan. 24 issue of The Madisonian, which was submitted by Don Black regarding Madison Valley History Association meeting held on Jan. 17 at First Madison Valley Bank. The program for the meeting was the Bear Creek School. The speakers for the program were Mona Durham and Karen Shores. My brother, Larry Zabel, had painted a fine painting of the schoolhouse as it might have looked in 1909 for the Ranchlands Group's annual noxious week abatement fundraiser shortly before his death. This original painting was sold at auction and was one of the final events my brother was able to attend. My daughter, Kathy Carpenter, was a great help to my brother during his final months. She and her partner, Randy Green, operate an art support and fine art reproduction printing business here in Ennis under the name of Mountain Creative Concepts. They have worked for and with Larry for a number of years, producing nearly all of the giclees (digital reproductions on canvas) of his and others' paintings. Larry suggested during his final days that they might produce a giclee of the Bear Creek School painting for the schoolhouse. They did this and Don Neville made a fine frame for it. (Don and I are both long-time members of the History Association.) It seemed the perfect time to present this at the History program, so I took it there and presented it to Mona Durham for the school. The nice article and picture in The Madisonian states that I was the one who provided this giclee. I wish to correct this misinformation. Kathy and Randy have provided this piece and a number of others at their own expense to some fundraisers in the area, so I felt it necessary to write this letter to set the records straight.

Community participation is critical to community success

Dear Editor,

Were you aware that the Floating Flotilla and Fish Fantasies' River Parade and the Friends of the Library Garagarama may not happen this coming year? That the Ruby Valley Ambulance and Ruby Valley Search and Rescue are in dire need of volunteers? Did you know that the Ruby Valley Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture was considering dissolving for lack of participation? All these groups are struggling and holding together by a thread because of lack of participation!

Take a moment to consider what these valuable resources' dissolution would mean to you and the community. What would you lose?

You may not feel like you are needed but you are! Volunteers are the lifeblood of rural community action. In an environment where paid officials are few and the resources to hire help are sparse, little happens without the leadership and labor of unpaid citizens. Your fresh ideas are the essence of a thriving community, and additional hands can help renew the strength of those who have carried the load in the past. Because of past discrimination or just the belief that community development is someone else's job, citizens may be reluctant to step forward but Community participation is critical to community success.

Community participation is far more than a requirement. It is a condition for success and progression. Studies have documented that communities that have numerous volunteers that engage in local civic, nonprofit, or philanthropic groups raise more resources, achieve more results, and develop in a more beneficial

Local government is the last best hope for America

Dear Editor,

My mother always told me that life is just too short to spend attacking those who don't agree with your political or philosophical perspective. Now there was a very liberal lady with some common sense! I am amazed how some on the far left that scream the loudest about free speech and label themselves as "liberal" are often the most narrow minded and likely to suppress ideas that threaten their utopian world. I really don't like to stoop to the level of my detractor, but I have to answer some very vitriolic and false accusations about personal and political philosophy. I am not antigovernment and have never said or thought anything of the kind! I believe in fiscally responsible, constitutionally based, federal government that respects the unalienable rights of the citizens and recognizes its responsibility to protect and defend their right to work and live in a free and non-repressive society. The proper role of the Federal government is that of protector, not provider.

I believe in a strong state government that represents the interests and needs of the citizens within the state, protecting their rights to work, provide for their families, and live in liberty. I believe that county government was intended to be the most representative because it is the most accessible to the citizens. County government should have a backbone and be willing to stand their ground when the State or Federal government fails to respect the rights or needs of the citizens. I believe that local government is the last best hope for an America based on the principles of freedom as outlined by our forefathers. Ms. Bradley has told me that we need more regulation and that the Federal government is in many ways too restricted and should have more control. I totally disagree, but will jealously defend her right to say anything she wants.....as long as it's truthful.

Bonnie Jane Workman Sept. 27, 1939-Jan. 20, 2013

Bonnie Jane Workman of Norris passed away Sunday, Jan. 20, 2013 at home surrounded by her loving family. She was born on Sept. 27, 1939 in Casper, Wyo., to Edd Lee and Viola May (Taylor) Garrett. Bonnie grew up on the "Ted Barlow Ranch", 10 miles west of Gillette, Wyo. She graduated high school in Gillette in 1958. She then went on to receive an Associate Degree in Nursing from Montana State University - Billings and a Bachelor Degree in Nursing from Montana State University - Bozeman. She was a student nurse throughout her Nursing education.

She married Dock Herbert Workman on April 15, 1972 in Sheridan, Wyo.

Bonnie worked as nurse at Billings Deaconess for 12 years and also the veteran's administration in Sheridan, Wyo. She was the second Nursing Administrator at the Ennis Hospital and also Director of Nursing in Helena and Bozeman. In addition to her long nursing career she owned and operated Rivergal Shuttle Service, LLC, rett; sons, Justin Joe Reno which was a shuttle service for fly fisherman on the Madison River. Bonnie was also a member of the Western Ways Band in which she played upright and bass guitar.

Obviously Bonnie was a very hard-working, career-oriented person, but she also enjoyed many other things. She loved to go dancing to western music, gardening, animals (especially horses) and talking to her fisherman customers. She was a very strong, beautiful woman that beat the odds. She was a teacher to many and absolutely loved her family. Bonnie was preceded in death by her parents and her first husband Harry Reno who passed away in 1977. She is survived by: brother William Lee Garand Kenrick Owen Workman; daughter, Crystal Bachmann; step-children, Shea Workman and Russell Workman; four grandchildren; two greatgrandchildren; and close family friends Ray Allison, Kevin Hodges and Mary Noble. Memorials may be made in Bonnie's name to Warriors and Quiet Waters Foundation at P.O. Box 1165, Bozeman, MT 59771-1165.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 26 at Dahl Funeral Chapel.

Interment with her late husband will take place at a later date at the Willow Grove Cemetery in Buffalo, Wyo.

Condolences and memories may be shared with the family at www.dahlcares.com.

Today's Cryptoquip Clue: Z = I

dear Maddy,

I recently overheard some people in town talking about some good friends of mine. They were saying that they were separating and heading toward divorce. I have not heard anything about this from my friends. I didn't even know they were having issues! Is it ok to approach my friends about this or should I keep my nose out of it?

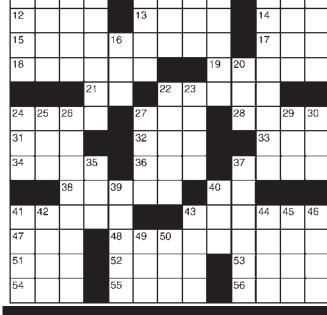

Dumbfounded in Dillon

dear Dumbfounded,

Before you go ahead believing everything you hear, is it possible that what you heard was an ugly rumor? People sometimes take it upon themselves to "inform" others of what they think is going on in someone else's life. This information is often not accurate and can go on to hurt people, relationships and reputations. I would stand to say that if your good friends have not mentioned anything to you then either it's not true or they are not ready to share any decisions they have made. Living in the small area we do, news travels fast whether good or bad. If you are truly concerned about your friends then give them a call and ask how things are. Wait for them to mention something before spouting off what you've heard or insisting it must be true. The thing about rumors is that they are just that: a rumor. If it isn't true then it won't hold weight and people will realize, probably when they see your friends going strong around town, that it was actually untruthful gossip for entertainment purposes only.

'I am looking forward to continuing the strong tradition that BBBS has built of positively impacting kids from early grade school through high school," Cori says. "It is wonderful to see the shining eyes of a 'Little Brother' or 'Little Sister' when they speak of their 'Big' or the warm smiles that the mention of a 'Little' invokes.'

The Ennis Sidekick Program was established in 1998. It is a partnership between the Ennis Branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters and the Ennis Schools. Last year, over 30 high school sophomores, juniors and seniors were matched with children in grades K-4 on a one-to-one basis. Mural honoring Montana women

From Lynda Moss

The first new painting installed in the Montana State Capitol since 1928 will be a mural honoring the history of Montana women as community builders and commemorating the 100th anniversary of women's suffrage in Montana in 2014, according to former legislators Lynda Moss and Diane Sands.

A process was established by the 2011 legislature to commission the mural to be funded solely by private contributions. The total cost is expected to be $56,000. To date, political parties and several organizations have contributed over $17,000. The Montana History Foundation and the Montana Historical Society are serving as fiscal sponsors for the mural. A grant from Humanities Montana will

The painting will honor women's diverse roles in family life and as business leaders, educators, healthcare providers, scientists, ranchers and "community builders".

The historic Montana State Capitol is known for a wide variety of artwork, including paintings by Charlie Russell and Edgar S. Paxson as well as life-size bronze sculptures of Senator Mike Mansfield, Maureen Mansfield and Jeannette Montanans and community groups are invited to submit stories of remarkable women and women's organizations to help document the significant contributions of women in the state's history and add to the research for the mural.

Information about the mural, the process to submit stories about Montana women and women's organizations and information about online donations for the mural may be found on the Montana Women's Mural website montanawom-

POSTER CONTEST WINNER

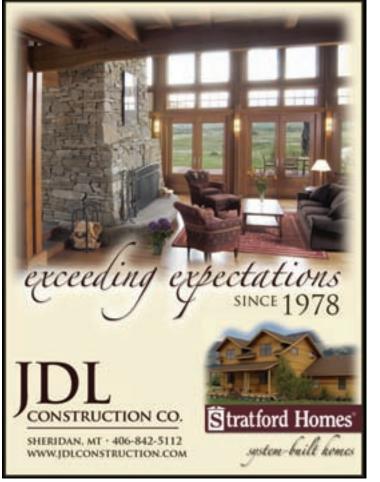

Photo submitted by Gail Banks The Twin Bridges School has announced the winner of their poster contest and Senior MacKay Hirst was awarded an iPod Touch for his winning design. The Twin Bridges Montana Behavior Initiative (MBI) Committee suggested the contest. One of the first steps in the MBI process is to establish a set of universals that the entire school can relate to-what it means to be a Twin Bridges Falcon. It was also suggested that the students develop the universals and create the Falcons design that would be part of the acronym, PRIDE. After much consideration of 18 entries submitted by 15 students, Mackay Hirst's project was selected. A big thank you goes out to Ruby Valley National Bank in Twin Bridges for their sponsorship of the program literally everyone is taking off to go on a tropical vacation somewhere, the residents of Virginia City and the surrounding communities of Madison County are coming together for Winterfest the weekend of Feb. 8-10. Winterfest is an annual event that presents a unique twist on the concept of friendly competition at a time when locals are in desperate need of a cure for cabin fever.

The Winterfest weekend revolves around the broomball tournament, a wild and wacky sport that combines aspects of soccer, lacrosse and hockey. Teams play each other on a traditional ice rink at the City Park in Virginia City, but instead of a hockey puck, they use a volleyball or soccer ball. Instead of using hockey sticks, players pass and shoot the ball with broomsticks. The final twist in the broomball tournament may also be the biggest obstacle for Just when it seems like teams to overcome. Instead of wearing ice skates, players must navigate their way around the rink in winter boots or shoes.

The tournament begins at 6 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8 and registration is $40 per team. And if slipping and sliding on the ice doesn't sound like enough fun as it is, broomball fans and observers will soon realize the game is truly a spectator sport. The tournament continues all day Saturday, with a break in the afternoon for a 2-man Log Sawing Contest at 2 p.m. downtown. Activities will continue on Sunday morning with a children's sledding race, followed by the broomball championship game at 1 p.m.

A dog wheelbarrow race down Main Street will follow the championship game on Sunday and an awards ceremony will be held at the Pioneer Bar. After each night's festivities, Dave Walker and Bobby Gutierrez at the Pioneer will perform live music.

Event organizer Joanne Erdall-Van De Riet describes the weekend as a combination of community togetherness and camaraderie, and a challenge for everyone to be the best in the spirit of friendly competition. She added that it's a good opportunity for people to come out and watch their kids play, and that Winterfest continues to gain recognition from neighboring communities as a successful event.

"Everyone gets to see people that you haven't seen over the winter, which is really cool," said Erdall-Van De Riet. "It's just a good reason to come to Virginia City."

For more information or to register your team for the broomball tournament, contact Candy at 600-9370.

Safe Winter Driving

As we head towards Spring. we also are heading towards the time of year when we in Southwest Montana can see our most intense snow storms of the year. Warmer weather can make for slushy driving conditions. Wind and freezing temps make for icy, slippery roads.

Good friends of ours were recently in a one-car, no-fault accident resultant of icy roads. While the car was totaled, our four friends were able to walk away, unscathed. Their amazing luck of no serious injuries didn't stop enforcement law from issuing a ticket for improper vehicle maintenance. They issued an were $85 ticket because their tires were insufficient for winter driving. Plan to replace your tires as needed. Save for the expense, and save yourself from a possible fine or accident.

I also recommend keeping a shovel, sleeping bag, water and snacks as well as a bottle of washer fluid in your car. Slushy roads can limit visibility. Being able to wash away the dirty spray from semi-trucks can be incredibly helpful.

On bad roads it's never a good idea to follow any vehicle too closely; give your fellow travelers space so everyone can make it to their destinations safely. This may also prevent cracked windshields as the roads are often covered in gravel these Icy roads also make it more difficult to slow down for animals crossing the road. When one deer crosses the road, scan the burrow pit for his friends that may follow.

Drive safe! And share your tips at the new Sustainably Sadie Facebook page, Like the page and follow along for a more sustainable life. Feel free to share at the blog, www. sustainablysadie.blogspot.com email sustainablysadie@ hotmail.com. Thanks for reading!

HOLLOWTOP SMOKE SIGNALS

By Art Kehler FOR THE MADISONIAN

Untraditional Fare Innovative cuisine for uncommon times nature. I am an optimistic person, not easily given to pessimism. However, the Mayan calendar fiasco, the barely averted fiscal cliff and the recent, worldwide rash of natural disasters, have caused me to reassess my outlook. Though not certain, it is not a stretch to imagine the tri-cities (Harrison, Pony, Norris) area enduring uncommon times in the future. During such trying periods, everyday life can significantly change. One of the most unsettling effects could be markedly higher prices for traditional foods. So, just in case, I have begun to consider possible alternative victuals.

In similar days of yore, local folks supplemented their diets (sometimes secretively) with deer, elk, moose and other big game animals. However, at my age, dragging such critters would be taxing to say the least. My only realistic chance to bag a deer would be to rigor its mortise, by "accidently" running over it with my vehicle-repeatedly. Alas, game wardens frown on such unorthodox hunting techniques.

Consequently, because most can be harvested yearround, I am focusing on smaller, non-game beasts. Following is my initial list of potential healthy, wholesome, nourishing meals along with descriptive terms to whet the appetite:

Gopher Gruel - so good, you'll whistle while you eat. Pie

Magpie Meat criminally delicious.

Braised Badger Lips over Rice Pilaf - "Caution"-lips best obtained from deceased animals! Sage-Smoked Snowshoe-

Hare Ears - low fat, hearthealthy. Raccoon Rump Roast with Loon Liver Gravy - the whole family will go loony over it. Rockin' Rock Chuck Chili perfect for the heartburndeprived. Grilled Muskrat Tenderloins with Sautéed Mushrooms - fresh from trap to plate. Porcupine Porridge - sticks to the ribs. Teriyaki Coyote Kabobs - you'll howl for more. Sculpin' Surprise - for the adventurous appetite.

England New Carp Chowder – economical-one carp = feed a convention.

Sucker Meat and Dumpling Soup - don't be suckered, it's better than it sounds.

Grosbeak Goulash - grossly underrated.

Screech Owl and Egg Omelet - a rousing way to start the day.

Of course, the above scrumptious entrées are still works in progress. Each dinnercritter will require a cadaverspecific recipe. However, I can safely predict one ingredient that will be common to all. Tabasco Sauce. Lots of Tabasco Sauce. Other issues to be dealt with include alienating appearance, palatability, plausibility and the name-association fear factor.

Ultimately, it is my fondest hope that uncommon times never come about. Nevertheless, local residents can rest easy knowing someone is already developing untraditional fare needed should such dire days arrive. Who knows, my dinner-critter recipes may even go mainstream and be served in restaurants across the tri-city area. I'll keep ya posted.

Art lives in Harrison, Montana. His essays, stories and poetry, have been published in regional newspapers and literary magazines.

FIVE KEY AREAS TO PAY ATTENTION TO WHEN BUYING A HOME

Holly Driskill PRUDENTIAL REAL ESTATE

When you are searching for a new home it can be very exciting and also very frustrating. If you pay close attention to five key areas of the homes you are considering, it may save you money in the long run.

Electrical: Owners often assume with newer homes that all is fine with the electrical. That is not always the case. If the electrical is done incorrectly, you may have problems. That is why a complete home inspection will help rule out any problems and point out any areas of concern.

Foundation: foundation is also something that needs to be inspected thoroughly. There are typical cracks and there are atypical cracks. Some may lead to problems while others won't. A telltale sign is if the windows are not opening and closing properly; this could mean that the foundation is moving.

Plumbing: Plumbing is an area that you can't always spot as easily but it can create expensive repairs if plumbing issues go either undetected or are not properly fixed. Check underneath the sinks for cracks and point them out to your inspector.

Attic: You can tell everything about the house by the attic. Other areas of the home can be covered up if a repair had occurred. For instance, if there is a leak and it damaged a wall, with the right contractors and repairs if can be made to look like new. The attic is sort of the soul of the home. In the attic you can tell where all the damage has been. Landscaping: There should be a 12-inch barrier between the landscape and the house. Otherwise you have the risk of having the foundation crack and affect the home. When the landscape that is too close to the house is watered, the foundation and soil expand. Then when no watering occurs, the foundation dries up and shrinks and this can cause it to crack.

Holly Driskill

Always remember include these in your inspection. This may help you keep from making a mistake that may cost you money later.

Hopefully glorious light will touch all of us this year as we spread the new year's greetings. We can share these special ideas with each other.

Wishes and prayers go out to Marc Caprara and his family, while Marc is having heart surgery this week in Cleveland. I was just reading a note from his wife, Lisa, and she was saying that he is doing well after the surgery. You can send messages to Marc and Lisa on Facebook. Hopefully they will be home in Helena soon. This was a big operation for Marc, so thank the Lord he is doing well.

Much sympathy goes out to the family of Frances Larson from Sheridan, with her passing. Her family and friends will miss her; she was always on the move helping someone.

that my uncle Reid Edwards had a fall in his home. He had such traumatic head injuries that he passed away. Reid had many ties to this area as the Edwards were raised in Cardwell. Reid's brother, Bob Edwards was from Pony. His sisters, Frances Fenton from Sheridan, Cena Shaw from Whitehall, and my mom, Betty Patacini from Whitehall are all deceased. Only two brothers, Joe and Phil, are left in the original family. Reid was married to Bev Scott from Whitehall for 58 years. I always say that you never know how your life may be one minute from now. Don't leave important things unfinished. You just never know.

Happy Birthday to my aunt, Ruby Dale Fouts. Ruby and Don ranched most of their married life in the Waterloo area. Ruby turned 91 and her sister, Vernie, turned 95 the week before. My dad, who is the baby of the family will turn 90 in April and one other living sister Elsie, 93 in June. What is the secret for their long, fairly healthy lives? GARLIC.

I had a friend send me a I received word this weekend youtube video on Archie Bunker.

They know I enjoy Archie; he rather reminds me of my dad. Anyhow, I forwarded it to some friends and added the following fact about Archie Bunker: Archie, of course, is really Carroll O'Conner when out of the Archie part. Byron Bayers from Twin Bridges was telling me that he went to college with Carroll O'Conner at the University of Montana in Missoula. Byron added that they didn't take a lot of classes together because, unlike Byron, Carroll took many drama classes.

Sounds like we might be getting some more snow and the cold may be returning. I talked to my son Luke who is on a job in North Dakota and he said it was 18-below there. Yuck! I can live wit the snow, but I don't like the cold. I froze my hands, fingers and toes too many times when I was young; now, if they just hear the weather report, they start hurting from the cold.

What have we learned this week? We all have our own struggles we are going through, let us not make it any harder on each other. To be kind and loving is easier and far more rewarding.

It's true that we don't know what we've got until we lose it; but it's also true that we don't know what we've been missing until it arrives. When you're right, no one remembers. When you're wrong, no one forgets. Cheer up; the worst is yet to come. If you can't see the bright side of life, polish the dull side. Everyone wants to go to heaven, but no one wants to die. You have a cough? Go home and eat a whole box of Ex-Lax, tomorrow you'll be afraid to cough. Before you criticize someone, walk a mile in their shoes. That way, you'll be a mile from them and you'll have their shoes. You know when you are too drunk to drive? When you swerve to miss a tree then realize it was your air-freshener. Barret Hospital Foundation awards funds to purchase anti-coagulation analyzer

From Stephanie Vinson BARRETT HOSPITAL FOUNDATION

Barrett Hospital Foundation recently awarded $33,000 to Barrett Hospital & HealthCare to purchase a new Siemens anti-coagulation analyzer. anti-coagulation analyzer is used to run a PTT test, which helps determine the cause of unexplained bleeding or clotting. The machine also processes PT tests which are used to evaluate hemostasis Hospital & HealthCare Lab (the clotting process). The Manager, Larry Goss, "The analyzer is also able to detect D-dimers, which can indicate the presence of a variety of ailments including deep vein thrombosis or a pulmonary embolism. This upgraded technology also allows physicians to evaluate the effectiveness of treatment for excessive bleeding or machine will allow us to obtain results much faster, from a current time for many tests of 20 minutes to an average time of 4 minutes."

Many patients are on a prescription drug called Coumadin, which is used as a blood thinner to prevent blood clot formation. Clotting is an important natural mechanism

According to Barrett to stop a wound from bleeding, but internal blood clots are dangerous. These patients must closely monitor their clotting levels, and Barrett Hospital & HealthCare operates a "Coumadin Clinic" to assist in monitoring.

ECCS to host farewell party for director

By Christine Kern

After more than four years of dedicated service, Sara Racine has resigned from her post as director of the Ennis Community Children's School. While the students, parents, staff and board members will miss her enthusiasm, love and warmth, we would like to wish her the best.

Over the years, many members of our community have had the opportunity to get to know Sara as she has shown the kids of ECCS around town on field trips, at fundraisers, and in her ever creative means of promoting ECCS to make it a better place. The Board of Directors wishes to invite the community to share our appreciation for Sara on Thursday, Jan. 31, from 3:30-5:30 p.m. at an open house party at ECCS, 315 W. Steffens St. in Ennis.

As always, we are looking to the future for it is truly a bright one for our young students. Yet at this time we cannot help but look to the past four years with fondness and gratitude for all that Sara has done for our school.

Ennis Community Children's School is a non-profit preschool serving the children of the Madison Valley since 1982. For more information about the school or the open house for Sara Racine, contact Christine Kern at bajamama2009@gmail. com or 600-7922.

COMMITTED TO OUR COMMUNITY

Community" is all about a group of people uniting around common passions. And let's be honest, there are A LOT of things people are passionate about... football, running, sewing, comic books, churches, The Grateful Dead, the outdoors, college basketball, the Bible...just to name a few. And from what we have experienced, when a group of people are united behind feeding the hungry, praying for the sick, or even just walking through life together, a very powerful and intimate community is created. And your ultimate buy-in helps to embed that change into the fabric of the community for future generations. Get involved in your community. Join an organization that you are passionate about and keep our little piece of Montana united.

the Loan was $316,006.00. This amount includes the outstanding principal balance of $308,793.90, plus accrued interest, accrued late charges, accrued escrow installments for insurance and/or taxes (if any) and advances for the protection of beneficiary's security interest (if any). Because of the defaults stated above, Beneficiary has elected to sell the Property to satisfy the Loan and has instructed Successor Trustee to commence sale proceedings. Successor Trustee will sell the Property at public auction the North Entrance of the Madison County Courthouse, 110 East Wallace St., Virginia City, MT 59755, City of Virginia City on April 12, 2013 at 2:00 PM, Mountain Time. The sale is a public sale and any person, including Beneficiary and excepting only Successor Trustee, may bid at the sale. The bid price must be paid immediately upon the close of bidding at the sale location in cash or cash equivalents (valid money orders, certified checks or cashier's checks). The conveyance will be made by trustee's deed without any representation or warranty, express or implied, as the sale is made strictly on an as-is, where-is basis. Grantor, successor in interest to Grantor or any other person having an interest in the Property may, at any time prior to the trustee's sale, pay to Benefi ciary the entire amount then due on the Loan (including foreclosure costs and expenses actually incurred and trustee's and attorney's fees) other than such portion of the principal as would not then be due had no default occurred. Tender of these sums shall effect a cure of the defaults stated above (if all nonmonetary defaults are also cured) and shall result in Trustee's termination of the foreclosure and cancellation of the foreclosure sale. The trustee's rules of auction may be accessed at www.northwesttrustee.com and are incorporated by the reference. You may also access sale status at www.Northwest trustee.com or USA-Foreclosure.com.
